

Microsoft Fabric Executive Briefing

Get up to speed on Microsoft Fabric and what it can do for your organisation

Business challenge

Modern data estate and cloud solutions are immensely complex, potentially leveraging hundreds of services and spanning multiple clouds. With new advances in AI and Analytics, organisations are now also scrambling to bring AI to their data estate to boost efficiency and productivity to business-critical processes, leading to lower operating costs and increased revenue, customer satisfaction and employee retention.

Microsoft Fabric provides an all-in-one analytics solution for enterprises, encompassing everything from data transfer to data analysis, real-time insights, data science and business intelligence. Delivering a wide range of services, including data lakes, engineering, and integration, all in one convenient location for a complete and open analytics solution with AI and Analytics built in for a truly modern data estate.

How we help

Insight's Fabric Executive Briefing has been developed to help executives and decision makers at your organisation get up to speed on the 'what', 'why' and 'how' of Microsoft Fabric. Contextualised to your industry, Insight's team of Data Specialists will guide your organisation's decision makers through a 2-hour session on the value of Microsoft Fabric and what it means for your organisation

As part of the Briefing, we work with your team to identify the value proposition for Microsoft Fabric, how it can be used by your organisation and ensure that the product is fit for purpose based on your current location in the cloud journey and assist you in building out a migration path towards Microsoft Fabric.

Leveraging Microsoft best practices as well as Insight's own frameworks, the Fabric Executive Briefing is the first step towards building a modern, analytics and AI platform for your business.
