

Microsoft Fabric Fast Start

Enable Microsoft Fabric and solve and end-to-end use cases with one of your own datasets

Business challenge

Modern data estate and cloud solutions are immensely complex, potentially leveraging hundreds of services and spanning multiple clouds. With new advances in AI and Analytics, organisations are now also scrambling to bring AI to their data estate to bring efficiency and productivity to business-critical processes, leading to lower operating costs and increased revenue, customer satisfaction and employee retention.

Microsoft Fabric provides an all-in-one analytics solution for enterprises, encompassing everything from data transfer to data analysis, real-time insights, and business intelligence. Delivering a wide range of services, including data lakes, engineering and integration, all in one convenient location for a complete and open analytics solution with AI and Analytics built in for a truly modern data estate.

How we help

Fabric Fast Start has been developed to help organisations quick start their adoption of Microsoft Fabric, aligned to best practices, to prove business value through rapid deployment of an end-to-end use case built on Microsoft Fabric with one of your own datasets.

Insight's team of Data specialists will guide you through a 4-week engagement to setup Fabric to ingest your data into, before transforming and serving the data in a Power BI Report for consumption.

With a focus on rapid deployment, Fabric Fast Start is designed to help your business realise the value in a unified analytics platform. Upon successful prototyping, our team can work with you to explore evolving the use case into a full production solution.
